Preparing for the Future

• 96% of the 25 fastest growing occupations (2008-2018) will require some level of education or training beyond high school. Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics

Before you decide what type of education you will need after high school, you first need identify your career interests. The big question is: "What do you want to be when you grow up?" The bigger question is "How do I figure this out?"

The following resources allow you to research career interests and abilities as well as job projection and growth, education required, projected salaries, etc.:

www.floridashines.org/find-a-career – FloridaShines will help you learn about yourself, discover career options and opportunities for your future and access information and tools to achieve your career goals.

www.scf.edu/StudentServices/CareerResourceCenter/default.asp - Your career development is a lifelong voyage of self-discovery seeking answers to questions like "who am I?", "where am I going?" and "how do I get there?" Career development resources and SCF Career Resource Center (CRC) specialists are available to guide you on your educational journey to a productive career.

Bls.gov/ooh/ – The Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Outlook Handbook can help find career information on duties, education and training, pay, and outlook for hundreds of occupations.

Post-Secondary Options

High school seniors nationwide report four major goals when asked about their plans after graduation:

1) Attending College

2) Career/Technical Education

3) Work Full-Time

4) Military

Attending College

- Seniors pursuing admission directly to a four-year college or university should research the admissions criteria for several institutions and apply early in their senior year.
- Students should take either the SAT or ACT in the spring of the junior year as this will be required for college entrance.
- If you need assistance with researching colleges, scholarships or applying for financial aid, please contact Dr. Purpus (College and Career Advisor).
- Seniors planning to attend a community/state college research the different types of degrees offered at the community college level.
- The Associate of Arts (AA) degree and selected Associate of Science (AS) degrees are designed for students planning to transfer to a university. Students planning on attending a community/state college will need to take the PERT test if they do not have an SAT or ACT score.

Career/Technical Education

- Manatee Technical College (MTC) provides opportunities for students to be trained for skilled, high-paid careers in the business, computer, health science, construction, public service, and industrial fields.
- Technical training may also be available at public community colleges.
- If interested in attending MTC during your senior year, talk with your counselor and make sure you plan your curriculum accordingly.

State College of Florida Associate of Science (A.S.) Degree

- State College of Florida (SCF) offers one-year certificate programs in selected professions, as well as an Associate of Science (AS) degree.
- This degree is intended to prepare students for the world of work. After earning an AS, students will have the knowledge and skills required to obtain a job in the career field for which they have been training.
- The courses in these programs are focused on the specific career field and are not intended to transfer to a university.

Work Full-Time

- Some high school students choose to work full-time following graduation.
- High school sponsored on-the-job (OJT) programs provide students an opportunity to work while earning high school elective credit.
- You may be eligible for OJT in your senior year. Be sure to talk with you counselor during the registration period for next school year.
- *Although this guide discusses MTC and SCF as postsecondary options, you may also be eligible for dual enrollment options through both of these schools.

More information about dual enrollment can be found on the LRHS website using this link.

Military

- The Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, National Guard, and Coast Guard all provide extensive technical training to high school graduates.
  - Recruiters are often available on high school campuses to discuss enlistment requirements and risks.
  - A military enlistment usually requires a 4-year commitment.
  - College credit may be available for military training.
- Interested students must take the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB). The test may be taken at their high school or arranged through a recruiter.
- The ASVAB is typically given in early February on the LRHS campus.
- See Sergeant Cassidy or Major O'Dea for more information.
- The ASVAB test is open to all students regardless of their interest in the military.
- This test can help students determine areas of strengths and abilities in areas of science, math and language. Students can use this information to identify potential career pathways.

Standardized Testing

SAT & ACT

- Informational flyers with test dates and registration deadlines are available in the Guidance office and can also be found on-line at www.collegeboard.org (SAT) and www.actstudent.org (ACT).
- See page 8 for a comparison chart between the SAT and ACT.
- Students are responsible for completing the registration online and for remitting payment. The closest test centers are Braden River High, Manatee High, and Out of Door Academy.
- SAT & ACT Fee Waivers are available to students who participate in the free or reduced lunch program. Students may register a maximum of two times with a fee waiver.
- Lakewood Ranch High School test code (CEEB) 100162

July 15, 2023	June 16, 2023

- SAT Subject Tests are college admission exams on specific subjects.
- There may be some colleges and universities that require or recommend that students take an SAT Subject Test.
- Students should check with individual institutions to determine if the Subject Test is needed.

PERT

- If you will be attending a community/state college such as SCF, an SAT or ACT score is not required for admission. However, if you have a qualifying score you may be exempt from taking the Post-Secondary Education Readiness Test (PERT).
- Students who do not take the SAT or ACT can register for the PERT once they have applied to the community/state college of their choice.

Action Plan for Juniors Who...

Are interested in a 4-year college or university:

If you took the PSAT /NMSQT in October, your score report should be returned in early December. See where your strengths are and get help with your weaker areas.
Research colleges and universities by accessing their websites. If you have specific questions about a particular university, please contact Dr. Purpus (College and Career Advisor). See factors below in choosing a college. Create a file to organize everything.
Attend college/university fairs and open houses held in the area.
Take the SAT and/or ACT exams.
Write a résumé. If portfolios, audition tapes, or writing samples are required for admission or scholarships, start to develop them. There is still time to get involved with extracurricular activities. A breadth and focus of interests will make you an asset to a college's community.
If applications require letters of recommendation, think about which teachers or other adults you'd like to request them from.
Investigate scholarship programs and make note of special requirements. Check your library or complete an online search.
If you are interested in an athletic scholarship, contact the athletic departments of the schools you are researching.
Plan visits to college and university campuses. Make appointments, especially if visiting during the summer.
Arrange a personal interview if required. Follow-up with thank you notes.
Create a list of 3-6 schools where you want to apply so you are ready to start applications early in your senior year.

Financial Aid & Scholarships

- Anyone planning on attending college, vocational, or technical school should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).
- This application determines the types of monies you'll be eligible to receive such as the Pell Grant, the Federal Supplemental Education Opportunity Grant (FSEOG), the Federal Work-Study Program, and federal student loans.
- The application will require your family's Income Tax Return information.
- The FASFA will be available to complete after October 1 of your senior year.
- For planning purposes, families can go to www.fafsa4caster.ed.gov at any time to get an early estimate of financial aid.
- Scholarships, a form of financial aid, can generally be categorized into four types:
- 1. The State of Florida's Bright Futures Scholarship Program. This includes the Florida Academic Scholars Award, the Florida Medallion Scholars Award, and the Florida Gold Seal Vocational Scholars Award.
- 2. Scholarships given by local and national organizations. The College and Career Advisor will post and announce these during students' senior year (most have specific requirements in the areas of GPA, community service, area of study, family heritage, financial need, etc.).
- 3. Scholarships awarded through nationwide organizations that can be accessed by the student either through scholarship resource books or websites.
- 4. Scholarships available directly from the post-secondary institution where you will be attending. You should inquire into the availability of these scholarships with the Financial Aid Director or Admissions Counselor at those institutions. You may also be automatically awarded a school-based scholarship based on your need and/or merit.

NCAA Eligibility Center for Athletes

- If you are planning to participate in collegiate athletics at either an NCAA Division I or II school, you need to register with the NCAA Eligibility Center at www.eligibilitycenter.org during your junior year.
  - Before you can make an official visit to a college, you must be registered with the Eligibility Center and you must report SAT and/or ACT scores directly to the Eligibility Center using the code 9999.
- Make sure to consult with your coach throughout this entire process.
